ENCOURAGING SIGNS

The order to resume activity at one stack of the Pittsburgh Steel company at Monaca is of interest in the Conneltsville region because it will call for the Alcoa coke plant being placed in operation again. It is not, however, to be regarded as promising immediate or more general activity in coke production but it is one of the encouraging signs which observers in the "captive" have been anticipating would sooner or later appear. That it will be followed by other evidences of a slow revival is the confident expectation, but no one is indulging the delusion that such "evidences" will crowd each other in their coming.

The liquidation of iron and steel stocks has not progressed at the rate it was believed would follow the price reductions. That it has not done so is very largely due to the fact that many consumers like the buyers of commodities in other lines, have felt that prices have not yet begun to fluctuate in the extent necessary to stimulate buying beyond the limit of pressing necessities. There are, however, indications that further reductions will be made in the price schedules for iron and steel products. Until these are made, the consuming public becomes convinced that the selling level has already been reached, there is little likelihood that the buying movement will take on larger proportions. Until it does the rate of exhausting accumulated stocks of iron and steel will not be hastened hence the price will be prolonged. When this means of a quickening of buying through still greater reductions in price, that condition is reached when the steel makers need more pig iron, the furnaces will then come into the market for coke and that will be the signal for additional to the number of producing ovens in the Conneltsville region.

Quite naturally the furnaces equipped with by-product plants will make first call upon them for a coke supply, but there has never been a period of furnace activity when there has not also been demand for the product of the by-product, even antiquated though its process of making may be. Furthermore, resumption of iron making will not be limited to furnaces equipped with by-product coke plants, which means that the Conneltsville region will again be "revived" for its relative of "first-class" to the smaller groups of furnaces. Incidentally there will be a gain in the outgoing tonnage of coal for the by-product plants and thus the trade of the region will profit proportionately as the turnpike industry assumes a larger degree of activity.

The time when this shall occur is still more or less indefinite as no person presumes to be able to forecast it with certainty, but giving proper importance and relation to the factors which are controlling or will control the situation, there is every reason to believe that within the next six weeks, or by September 1, there will be a decided change in progress. It will not actually under way, as relates to a revival of the industry upon which the Conneltsville coke region is so largely dependent for its prosperity.

NO GENERAL REDUCTION IN SIGHT

The reduction of 25 cents per ton in the freight rates on coal to certain lake ports having been made effective only until October 31 by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the shipping public will not be encouraged by this action to hope for a general lowering of freight rates as a contribution to the efforts that are being made to revive industry and business. The reduction authorized will, of course, be of material aid to coal consumers in the northwest and Canada and to the extent that the cost of their coal supply is lessened, but such relief as will be thus afforded will be limited to the sections to which the revised rates apply. Coal consumers nearer home will have no compensating advantage except that arising from the shorter haul. The advantage will be relative, not actual. Compared to other commodities the prices of which have been reduced, coal will cost just as much as it did before to consumers located at points not included in the territory in which the revised rates apply.

Except the introduction of a measure in Congress directing a revision of railroad rates practically little effort has been made with that end in view. The Interstate Commerce Commission has directed attention to the fact that it is not a function of that body to institute proceedings looking to a revision of rates. The general public buying coal from the railroads would keep faith by taking the necessary steps to reduce rates following the reduction of wages which was accepted upon the condition that rates be advanced, there has been no concerted action by shippers or others to bring the matter before the rate regulating body. There have, however, been very vigorous protests entered against a continuance of the existing schedules as applied to many commodities.

The railroads still contending that they need more money than the reduction in wages is saving out of operating expenses, there is a disposition to not only defer voluntary action on rate revisions but to contest any movement in that direction on the part of shippers. They have not followed the example of the railroads of Canada which have agreed to a cut of 25 per cent in the rates on livestock to bring relief to the farmers, and have displayed no willingness to do so on the behalf of any other industry or industries.

As the situation stands today there seems to be nothing in progress to indicate general reduction in rates either freight or passenger, such as is actually needed in order to bring them in closer harmony with declining wages and prices.

Compensation The Soldier's Due

Manufacturers Record.

The Manufacturers Record has consistently advocated the payment of what some people have been pleased to call a bonus to the soldiers in the great war. The word is erroneous. There is no sum of money that can measure the earnings of these men. The most the country could hope to do would be to adjust the compensation heretofore paid, not with any idea that it thereby discharged the debt, but solely as an indication of the intent to recognize in a substantial way the attainments and sacrifices of the fighters.

The long arm of conscription reached into almost every American home. There was a selective process. Only the best were taken. The best were those who, and they remained at home, would have been in premium positions in field and factory. Right gladly did they offer not only their skill and labor, but the very blood of their bodies, even their lives, in the great cause. For most of them there was no glory, only the dulness of daily duty in surroundings that smacked of the inferno. They gave all. Men whose who stayed at home were reaping rich rewards. There were those in essential employments, which employment had saved them from the draft, who labored long and faithfully. There were others who professed and translated the nation's necessity into a lack of pay. They took their share and more—some of them—of the billions which now represent the national debt. And it is a national debt which every returned soldier must help to pay. They not only did without, fighting for a paltry wage, but they must pay the share of the huge wages that went to those who stayed at home. There is injustice in all war. It cannot be avoided. It does no harm to expose it. But may Heaven help the man whose soul is so shriveled up that he, having escaped the heat and burden of the day with profit to himself, whines and weeps at the suggestion that they who supplied with death in death's own sweat, should receive no recognition.

The war did not end at the Armistice, and has not ended yet. It is a long task to whip chaos into order, and chaos is with us still. A great depression has swept over the United States, engulfing the whole world. An unrelenting tax system and a vicious financial program have combined to make the raising of money an exceedingly difficult undertaking. There is a feeling of fear in many quarters, unjustified but real. We do not agree with Secretary Mellon that the passage of an act adjusting compensation would at this time have been disastrous. He feared, and the Administration feared, that it would inflate the currency. We think that what the country needs more than any other one thing at this time is an intelligent employment of our gold reserve, the wise use of credit for productive purposes. The payments contemplated to the soldiers would have put more money into circulation. The effect would have been to revive trade and might, we dare say, have actually started a trade revival which would have made the payments wholly worth while. If only an investment.

But that is not the view of the responsible officials. It is not the view of the President of the United States, on whom the responsibility rests for bringing the country back to well-being. We know so well his sincere desire to be just to the soldiers that we believe his decision should be accepted in good faith. Men who answered yes when summoned by their government to pledge their lives in the national defense will be equally patriotic in accepting the decision of the commander-in-chief that the national exigency requires that they postpone for a period the receipt of their deserts. It is the glory of that great body of young men that they know how to be patient, how to endure, how to be unselfish. They will keep in step, as they did before, and be an example to strikers and mutinants and mischief-makers, for that is the stuff of which they are made. But adjusted compensation they must and will have later.

Wise Game Re-Stocking

Extricate Bulletin.

The decision of the State Game Commission to devote a considerable portion of its game-reocking fund to the purchase of young ring-neck pheasants, for placing in game sanctuaries, and in counties rained to pheasants, will be regarded by many hunters as wise, there being many who believe that it would be far better for Pennsylvania to go in for pheasants, rather than quail.

It undoubtedly is true that the efforts in re-stock with imported quail have proven futile. In good many cases, due to the uncertainty and the rigors of Pennsylvania's climate. Numerous instances have been experienced in which quail from Mexico have proven unequal to the storms of winter when transplanted in this state.

The pheasant, on the other hand, is a hardier bird, and means more to the hunter, because of its size, than does the quail. The time will come when the quail will be regarded as a second bird, rather than a game, and its life will be dependent upon the care given by the farmer, rather than the State Game Commission.

Candidate for M. E. Ministry Not Diminishing

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—To offset reports that candidates for the ministry are seriously diminishing, the Methodist Committee on Conservation and Advance announced here today that 188 out of 1,000 young men graduates of 29 Methodist Episcopal colleges this year were preparing to enter the ministry, and that Northwestern University, the largest Methodist institution, this year had the greatest number in its history preparing for Christian service.

"About 18 per cent of the male graduates, or 12 per cent of all graduates, will enter the ministry. Fifty-six other graduates, both men and women, plan to enter other fields of Christian activity, including that of foreign mission work."

"Northwestern University has on its rolls 183 persons preparing for Christian service, the largest number ever recorded there."

LIFE

Life is not strife for gold
Nor meddled fame.
For years in joys are told—
The heart's fire flame.
The roses nodding in the sun,
The children's happy feet,
Some little duty done.
A pleasure fleet.

Life is the joy of friends
And birds and trees,
The notes the love birds sing,
The fragrance of the roses.
Nightingales and sunny skies,
And little trips to make.
Tears when a loved one dies
And hearts that ache.

Life is a sum of things,
Laughter and cheery days,
Hope which the evening brings,
The future's rosy ways.
Faith when the clouds are gray,
Grief when the waters fall;
So, we must go our way
Knowing them all.

Life is a narrow path
Flung 'twixt a goal,
It is a mighty plan
Shaping the soul.
Glad that the eye can see,
All that the heart can feel,
All that the ear can hear,
Turns on life's wheel.

NEWS OF THE DAY AT MT. PLEASANT BRIEFLY RELATED

Mt. Pleasant Institute Preparing to Enroll Members.

CHAUTAUQUA AT FRICK PARK

Legion Post Will Have Three Day Redpath Program There Next Month; Fracture of Left Leg is Reduced; Youth Struck by Truck.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, July 25.—Redpath have been begun on the Mount Pleasant Institute to put the building in shape so that the academic and commercial departments may be opened in the early part of September.

W. D. McLean of the Peterson business college has been elected teacher in the commercial department and Dr. B. M. Loar of the board of trustees is now ready to enroll any person in either course.

No teachers have been enrolled for the academic department. Miss Emily Rubie will have charge of the entire school and will be piano teacher. She will be assisted by Miss Evelyn Pabel who has attracted some attention as a piano teacher having served in the capacity of assistant teacher at the institute during the last term and part of the previous year.

Prof. J. Hunter Gumbles will have charge of the violin department. No voice teacher has been chosen.

The support of persons interested in the welfare of this one of the oldest schools in this part of the state, is solicited by the board and it is hoped by another year to have it safely launched into a junior college and commercial school.

Chaunauqua Site Secured.
The Chaunauqua Zundell Post of The American Legion has secured Frick park from the property committee of council as the place where they will hold their Redpath chaunauqua on August 10th, 11th and 12th.

Fracture is Reduced.
On Saturday evening Arthur Oakes of Scotland, who suffered a compound fracture of the left leg in a baseball game, was brought to the Memorial hospital where the fracture was reduced.

Discharged From Hospital.
Charles Bowers, 12 years old, who was run down by an automobile while crossing Church street on Saturday morning was discharged from the hospital the same evening. The car ran across his stomach and at the time he was taken to the hospital no injuries could be found but he was kept in during the day for the purpose of determining whether he had suffered internal injuries. Charles Bowers is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowers. The Ford truck that ran over the boy was driven by John Furdak.

Funeral Services Today.
Funeral services for Mrs. Kate Fox Sullivan, 41 years old, wife of Robert Sullivan, who died at her Main street home on Saturday morning, will be held from the Church of God at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and interment will follow in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Light Bearers Meet.
The Little Light Bearers of the Reunion Presbyterian church, under the leadership of Miss Rachel Stoner and Miss John Freed, had a very interesting meeting in the Sunday school rooms of the church. The subject discussed was "Japan." This was made doubly interesting by a display of real Japanese handwork wearing apparel and accessories loaned for the meeting by Mr. Christner, a veteran of the Philippine War and by Mrs. Charles Grant, whose daughter, Miss Pearl Grant, is now a missionary in Japan.

Miss Alma Seaton Hostess.
Miss Alma Seaton was hostess on Saturday to the members of the Parkville club. Forty ladies of various ages were present. The party was run during the afternoon. The out of town guests were Miss Evelyn Bellman of Lynn, who is the house guest of Miss Alma Seaton and Mrs. Edward Myers of Lancaster, who is the house guest of Miss Ruth Myers.

Personal.
Dr. W. W. Stafford of Brownsville spent the week-end at the home of his daughter, Miss Margaret Stafford, at the home of Mrs. Grace War, who is taking a post-graduate course at the Children's

Impossible For Germany to Flood Dyestuffs Market

Says Leader of the Industry Who Denies Conditions Prevent Enlargement of Output.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
LAWYER, Germany, July 4.—German dyestuff manufacturers' total production this year will not exceed 50,000 tons, which will make it impossible to "flood" the markets of England or America, or even compete successfully against American manufacturers, asserts Dr. Carl Duisenberg, head of Germany's greatest dye manufacturing organization.

"We have recently increased our capital in 1,750,000 marks, which is 719,000,000 more than our previous capital, but this was the inevitable consequence of the tremendous depreciation of our currency and resultant increases in the prices of commodities," he said. "It has nothing to do with intended attacks on the world market, which it has been reported we were planning.

"Labor difficulties, shortage of coal, the unsatisfactory traffic conditions, as far as the Rhine and the Rhine customs barrier; all prevent us, in any case, from increasing our output, and leave us in a far from satisfactory position. This position is made worse by the hindrances placed in our way in many foreign countries."

Dr. Duisenberg characterized a reported demand in some American quarters for the closing of German dyestuff works because "they might be used for the manufacture of explosives and poison gas in another way" as "utterly senseless, since Germany has been deprived of the means of employing gases for war purposes, even if she wanted to." He added that "no sane man in Germany thinks of fresh wars."

"It is difficult to understand American anxiety," he continued, "for the American industry is incomparably stronger than ours."

YOUGH VALLEY OUTFIT WINS FROM COKERS IN NINTH INNING RALLY

Visitors Behind When Last
Frame Opens; Score
Five-Runs.

BIG CROWD AT CONTEST

The Yough Valley baseball team defeated the Connellsville Independents in a fast game Saturday afternoon at Fayette field. The game was a nip and tuck contest until the ninth inning when the Cokers had the lead. Yough Valley then proceeded to knock "Rabbit" Hauser out of the box, scoring five runs off him. "Rabbit" seemed to be good only at times during the entire game and then in the ninth he blew up. One Zager took his place, finishing the inning.

The largest crowd of the season saw the game Saturday afternoon. Both the bleachers and grandstand were filled and many fans were standing along the side lines. It was also surprising to notice how quiet the Yough Valley fans were, until the ninth inning.

WHY UMPIRES STICK TO FIRST DECISION

Reversal Would Mean Loud Protests and Delays.

Few Games Would Go Beyond First Inning If Arbiters Were to Pay Heed to Arguments and Proofs Presented by Players.

Entirely too many fans have an idea that umpires stick to their first decisions out of sheer bullheadedness. These fans are most ludicrously wrong. Every umpire time and again in the season understands in a flash, after he has decided one way, that he should have decided another, but if he reversed himself, thus encouraging "hicks," protests and delays, he would lose his job in short order, writes Tom Rice in the Brooklyn Eagle.

Very few fans stop to consider why the rule against umpires reversing themselves on decisions of fact is almost as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians, but the rule is absolutely necessary if any ball game is to be finished in less time than is required for one of those three-day cricket matches.

If umpires were to heed arguments, proofs and flurries and reverse themselves, they would do nothing but hold court, and few ball games would go more than one inning as enough disputed decisions would ordinarily arise in the first round to keep the umpire engaged all the rest of the afternoon. Long and painful experience has taught the umpire that he in baseball that it is better to lay it down as a definite principle that an umpire shall stick by his decision, even when he realizes on second thought that he was wrong, than it is to encourage the players in the belief that if they talk long and loudly enough they can persuade him to reverse himself. While cases occasionally arise in which an umpire would be justified in reversing himself, such a reversal, based upon new evidence, so to speak, would lead to interminable arguments and protests of new evidence upon all close plays.

NINETEEN HOMERS IN SINGLE TEXAS GAME

"Nig" Clarke, Former Indian Backstop, Made Eight.

Contest Between Corsicana and Texarkana in 1902 Produced Records Likely to Stand for Many Years in Baseball.

The mark of seven home runs in a recent game between the Philadelphia and Detroit Americans, and the major league record for circuit drivers in a single contest, but it didn't even come close to the world's record.

On July 14, 1902, Corsicana and Texarkana, in a Texas minor league, met in a regularly scheduled game which produced amazing records likely to stand for many years. Nineteen home runs, a dozen triples, ten doubles and almost a dozen singles were clouted out by the batters in this game. Corsicana won by a score of 31 to 8, and the winning team made 33 hits.

Incidentally, "Nig" Clarke, formerly the best backstop of the Cleveland American league club, claims to have established in this game the world's record for home runs by an individual batsman. Clarke says that he drove out eight round-the-sacks hits in this game.

Previous data credited Harry Wright of the Cincinnati Reds with the record of seven homers in a game in 1897. Modern records gave the honors to Robert Love of Boston, Dan Broderick of Detroit and Ed Delahanty of Philadelphia with four home runs apiece in one game.

Seven home runs were made in a game between St. Louis and Detroit June 12, 1890.

The Philadelphia-Detroit series produced hitting that has never been equaled in modern major league baseball, however, for the two teams made 10 home runs in the four games.

Phil Heriden, veteran catcher of the Cincinnati Nationals, has accepted terms to play with the Atlanta Southern association club.

The Brooklyn National league club has released Pitcher A. E. Bailey outright to the New Orleans club of the Southern association.

The Columbus American association team has announced the purchase of outfielder Eddie Murphy from the Cleveland Americans.

LEIPSIG TRIALS REALLY A FARCE

Germans Who are Guilty of the Major Crimes in the War are Not Arraigned.

KAISER NOT ON THE LIST

Many Other Notables, However Were Among the Accused, But Probably All of Them Will Get Off as Easily as Has William.

London.—The real German war guilt probably will escape trial. They'll get off as easily as the Kaiser, whom British politicians promised to hang.

This impression is given added foundation by the procedure at the trials of the small fry on the allied list before the German supreme court at Leipzig.

As presented to the German government last year, the list was the most formidable in the aftermath of war, fire, either ancient or modern. The accused ranged from princes to pirates, and the crimes from murder to theft.

The list was made up of lists presented by the various allied nations. America's conspicuous by its absence. The others were divided.

Kaiser's Name Omitted.
Because William Hohenzollern and son, the former crown prince, had fled to Holland, their names were not pressed. But among the other personages were the following:

Ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria—Charged with being responsible for deportation of many inhabitants of northern France.

Duke of Wurtemberg—Charged with being responsible for the troop massacres of people at Namur and other towns.

Gen. von Kluck—Charged with being responsible for the shooting of hostages at Senlis and civilians at Aerschol.

Gen. von Buslov—Charged with being responsible for the burning of villages in the Ardennes and the shooting of civilians.

Field Marshal von Mackensen—Charged with having villages burned and Roumanian civilians executed.

Baron von der Lancken—Accused in connection with the executions of Edith Cavell and Capt. Fryatt.

Tirpitz on List.
Admirals von Tirpitz, von Capelle, von Hippel, Scheer and von Ingenhoff—Charged with being variously responsible for submarine warfare, with ordering bombardment of unprotected English towns and with ordering sinking of unarmed merchant vessels.

Field Marshal von Sanders—In connection with the massacres of Armenians and Syrians.

Gen. von Maunthausen—In connection with the outrages at Louvain.

Gen. Kruska—Accused of spreading germs of typhus among the prisoners. In the list presented by France and Belgium, stress was laid particularly upon those who oppressed the civilian population, destroyed towns and deported helpless people into Germany.

The British specialized in the list of those naval officers who violated the laws of the war. For instance, in their list the following names occur:

Lieut. Capt. Klossowetter—For sinking the hospital ship Glennard Castle, Feb. 20, 1918.

Lieut. Capt. Valentiner—For torpedoing two merchant vessels without warning in 1915.

Lieut. Capt. Jess—For torpedoing boats without warning in 1918.

Commander Bonker—For bombarding Hull in March, and Edinburgh in April, 1916, from an airship.

The German government avoided taking any action in the matter as long as possible. Finally, it presented a reply to the allies in which it set forth the view that to arrest the men named, and attempt to hand them over to the allies would be to precipitate grave events in Germany.

It offered to put on trial any of its subjects before the German high court, provided the allied governments prepared prima facie cases against them, showing that prosecution was justifiable. This view of the German government finally prevailed.

Prepared Seven Cases.
The British prepared seven cases in all. These were the cases against: Heinrich Mueller, Trinks and Neumann, charged with acts of cruelty to prisoners of war at various camps, and the following naval cases:

Lieutenant Commander Patzig—Charged with sinking without warning the hospital ship Lauterbach Castle and with having afterward fired on and sunk boats containing survivors with consequent loss of 234 lives.

Lieutenant Commander Neumann—Charged with torpedoing a hospital ship, the British hospital ship, Dover Castle, with the loss of six lives.

Lieutenant Commander Werner—Charged with having sunk the British steamship Torrington and then drowning the survivors with the exception of the captain, by submerging while the unfortunate men were lined up as prisoners on the deck of the submarine.

In the house of commons recently, in reply to questions, the attorney general, Sir Gordon Bewart, said the seven cases which the government had prepared did not begin to exhaust its list. They were merely seven selected test cases.

Religions of the Future.
"Don't you think we should let posterity pay our war debts?"

"Possibly," replied Allen Cayenne. "It will at least prevent posterity from falling into any abject fallacy of ancestor worship."

Reverend Picked Out Boy's Eye.
An Robert Hart, six years old, slipped over to pick up an ear of corn, a reverend in a flock of chickens.

He was heading picked him in the green and burst it, blinding the boy.

Letter Mailed in Boston 31 Years Ago-Delivered

Boston.—A letter mailed from Boston to the State House thirty-one years ago has arrived here.

It was addressed to "David Pulsifer, Esq., State House, Boston," and the postal date, still very legible, was "Boston, Oct. 5, 1889, 7:45 p. m."

It bore a light-green colored two-cent stamp, with a likeness of Washington, an issue long ago abandoned.

It had evidently reached Seattle in its thirty-one-year trip, as it bore the following date, "Seattle, Wash., Terminal Station, April 28, 1921."

Postmaster Morris Jackson at the State House doesn't know, and never has heard of "David Pulsifer, Esq.," so he turned the letter over to the Boston postal authorities, to whose care it was entrusted thirty-one years ago.

TAUGHT TO BE REDS

Communism Is Taught in the Schools in Russia.

"Revolutionary Conscience" First Thing to Be Developed in Child, Says Former Prisoner of War.

Riga, Latvia.—Most of the younger generation of Russians are Bolsheviks, says Capt. Marian C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., the American flyer who was captured by Russians while serving in the Polish army and recently escaped from a Moscow prison. He attributes this to the Bolshevik educational system, under which communism is taught in the schools.

"The schools are all red," he stated, "and the educational program prescribes that the first thing to be developed in the mind of the child is the 'revolutionary conscience'."

"In prison I saw, several times, children visit the anti-Bolshevik parents. The children were red and accepted their parents' imprisonment philosophically, wondering how they could go against the tenets they had been taught to absorb in the classroom."

Yielding with this system of educating the children, said Captain Cooper, was the wonderful propaganda system by which the Bolshevik attempt to convert adults.

"Their communist lecturers work even in the prisons, trying to convert the prisoners," he continued. "They even tried it on me. There were lectures or classes held frequently. If a man said he was converted and could convince the prison committee of that fact, he generally was released."

"Further in the line of skilled propaganda was the excellent treatment of the Polish war prisoners just before they were returned to Poland, under the repatriation agreement of the Polish-Russian peace treaty. Before each bunch was repatriated, all of the soldiers in it were given new clothes and new shoes and were well fed for several weeks, so that when they arrived in Poland they looked well fed, well dressed and, in short, were walking advertisements for the soviet government."

Generally, Captain Cooper said, conditions in the prisons were very bad from the standpoint of diet, but that he received no personal ill treatment.

PLANS FOR A HUGE GARDEN
Six Hundred Thousand Trees Are to Be Planted on North Slope of Pike's Peak.

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Work will start soon on the planting of 600,000 trees on the north slope of Pike's peak, and a bonus will be paid to the sixty odd workers who remain "on the job" until the planting is completed.

This gigantic planting project is part of the reforestation program planned by the United States forestry service to conserve the water supply of the Pike's Peak region by reforesting the watersheds that have been denuded by numerous forest fires.

Thousands of the trees to be planted have already been delivered to a nearby spot, where they are cached in crates in deep snowbanks to prevent premature budding. The trees are four and five inches high and were raised from seeds planted in government nurseries.

Autoists Blame Potato Bugs.
Potato bugs are speed foes in south Jersey, say the motor drivers who have investigated the reason for the skidding of automobiles on apparently dry roads. They declare that the trouble has been caused by potato bugs migrating from one field to another and crossing the roads in the paths of their machines. Automobiles are exterminating about as many of the pests as the usual application of poisons, as the latter have washed off nearly as fast as they have been applied during the rainy weather. One farmer is said to have placed a motor horn in his spraying outfit. As he has previously trained his flock of geese to gobble up the potato beetles, he claims that the honking of the horn is quite effective in frightening the pests away.

Fire Detector.
There has recently been introduced a compact fire detector which may be installed anywhere in conjunction with a simple electric bell and a few dry cells. The device is a highly sensitive automatic fire detector which quickly acts when the temperature rises above the ordinary. It is adjustable, can be tested, is so simple that it cannot get out of order, and can be installed by anyone. The detector may be installed in the cellar of the private house, the attic, the kitchen and elsewhere, either in single or multiple arrangement, so as to give warning of fire at the moment such fire breaks out. Again, it may be installed in the office, shop, factory or store.—Scientific American.

MADE-OVER "BARGAIN" GOWNS

Slight Alterations Will Enable the Transformation Where There Are Objectionable Features.

Quite frequently shops offer excellent values in dresses that are extreme in style or that have some feature about them that blocks their sale. One's first impulse is to reject such a model, but experience has taught one a shrewd shopper that models of this type are possible after they have been revised at home or by a reliable tailor or seamstress.

In an unbecoming neckline, a sleeve that is the wrong length or does not fit well, even the introduction of a conspicuous color in some way may be altered with gratifying results.

Eliminating objectionable details, a dress with a very full circular skirt, pressed so, by rather a drag on the market at one shop, principally because brilliant green cloth with steel buttons had been inserted at the sides, so that in the swing of the skirt a not too generous display of hose would result. The cut of the skirt was extreme enough to give pause, but plus the spectacular touch of green it was voted impossible by the women to whom it was offered, until along came a woman with a vision that could see black satin substituted for the green, and the severe Renaissance neckline could be softened by opening the front of the plain bodice and inserting a V of some flattering lingerie material—changes, which, when made, showed the value of the gown.

spirit of the gown.

Now that sleeves of contrasting material are voted smart, one might be tempted to select a gown which could be altered by changing the sleeves. Of course, any changes one's originality might suggest would be helpful to the woman who to her dismay finds that the model she selected has been selected by her nearest neighbor or her dearest enemy.

Daring Bathing Suits Sewed Up.

Chicago.—Sensitiveness with pins, needles, thread and other paraphernalia of the ladies' tailor were stationed at Chicago beaches to censor the bathing suits worn by women and sew in those wearers who violated prohibitions against the display of legs and shoulders, which were made effective this year.

Last year the style of costumes worn at the beaches was left almost entirely to the conscience of the wearer, it was explained.

Hundreds of women who appeared in last year's "conscience" suits kept the beach tailors' censors busy.

THE SOISSON.

THE WAKEFIELD CASE.—A big production, starring Herbert Rawlson, is the feature attraction today and tomorrow. Here is a story which not only has one Master Mind, but three others as well, all scheming and planning to overthrow each other as well as the entire police forces of two continents. Against these sinister forces of the underworld, Herbert Rawlson, in the character of Neil Hartley, modern investigator, matches his double wit. The outcome of this battle of the minds gives the "Wakefield Case" one continuation of thrill from beginning to end. If you like a rattling good mystery story, which is not solved till the very end, go and see the "Wakefield Case." It will make you forget the Eighteenth Amendment and the income tax. Florence Billings, who plays the lead opposite to Herbert Rawlson, in the "Wakefield Case," will be remembered for her fine work in the previous Lawrence Weber production, "The Blue Pearl." In the character of Ruth Gregg, Miss Billings has a part that enables her to display all her natural charm and beauty.

THE PARAMOUNT.

THE DANGEROUS MOMENT.—The feature attraction today is another picturesque Greenwich Village picture of exceptional interest. Carmel Myers is seen in the stellar role. In "The Dangerous Moment," Miss Myers appears as a waitress in the place. A mystery is committed, one of the most sensational crimes in the history of Greenwich Village, and she is accused. Escaping from the police, she is sheltered in the studio of a young artist who figures prominently in unraveling the fascinating mystery. The cafe was built at Universal City from drawings of the original in the possession of the architectural and decorating departments at the world's film capital. Douglas Doty, who was a frequent visitor at Greenwich Village when he was editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, wrote the story for Miss Myers, and Marcel de Sano, who studied art in the romantic Bohemian Quarter, directed the production. For the story is an interesting case of well known players was assembled, including Herbert Myers, Monnie Hill, "Smoke" Turner, Fred G. Becker, Marion Skinner, Billy Fay, W. T. Fellows, George Rigan and Dale Warren. The picture will also be shown tomorrow.

THE ORPHEUM.

THE CHARIOT SCHOOL.—A Paramount picture, with Wallace Held in the leading role, is being shown today and will also be the feature attraction tomorrow. The story is a delightful little comedy sketch and one of the most charming figures in the picture is Ella Lee, who plays opposite Mr. Held. Mr. Held, in the star role of Austin Evans, inherits a girl's boarding school from his aunt, and believing that girls should spend more time in making themselves beautiful, and less in preparing themselves for business and politics, he changes the methods of instruction and makes his institution a "charm" school, with esthetic dancing, swimming, athletics and beauty secrets as the principal studies. A world of romance develops and no wonder with handsome "Wallace" as the principal and fifty beauties as pupils. This is one of the most delightful comedies that has been screened for some time.
